Peabody Institute.

Baltimore, April 10, 1876.

My dear Sir,

I have just received your note of the 7th and am on the point of leaving for St. Louis to be gone some ten days. President Gilman is in town, and will, I have no doubt, send you all his printed documents which are not many. I shall inquire of him on my return if he has done so, & if not, will attend to it myself. The University is to open for students in October. The trustees are at present busy making appointments and arranging plans. The University is not to be simply a post graduates institution, but the trustees hope to make that an important feature in it.

I think that Mr. Gelman will give you the information you desire without any doubt. His hands at present are full, & his correspondence expensive, but he is a very general, kindly, liberal minded man.

When I called at your house in Montreal some summers ago, I was very sorry not to find you at home. The servant reported you at the sea side. I hope you may find it in your way to visit Baltimore again. We are slowly but really improving here in a literary and scientific way; and I hope the new universality will give us an impulse, that will be manifest at once, and that must be permanent.

Yours very truly and in great haste,

M. H. Morrison.

Dr. Dawson.
