

St John N.B.

14 Feb. 1888

Dear Sir,

I send here with a cast of Paraspidia lamellatus Hart. for the Museum. You will see how different the pleurae are from those of R. Regina; and in place of 3 shorter pleurae at the end of thorax it has 2.

In the pleural groove the eyelobe, see the resemblance to Clavellus. This is a cast of nearly 200 individuals. One cheek, and the front of the glabella are flattened to the left side.

I don't know if you have seen the specimens of Paraspidia from the Upper Cambrian of Illinois. This is a very different species from the one I send you.

I am glad to get some of them from you. I have seen some of them in Montana and Colorado. I have also seen some of them in Utah and Arizona.

I have also seen some of them in California and Idaho. I have also seen some of them in Washington and Oregon.

I have also seen some of them in Wyoming and Nebraska. I have also seen some of them in South Dakota and North Dakota.

I have also seen some of them in Minnesota and Wisconsin. I have also seen some of them in Illinois and Indiana.

casts of the species of Paraspidia from the Upper Cambrian of Illinois. This is a very different species from the one I send you.

with a cast of Paraspidia lamellatus Hart. for the Museum. You will see how different the pleurae are from those of R. Regina; and in place of 3 shorter pleurae at the end of thorax it has 2. In the pleural groove the eyelobe, see the resemblance to Clavellus. This is a cast of nearly 200 individuals. One cheek, and the front of the glabella are flattened to the left side.

I don't know if you have seen the specimens of Paraspidia from the Upper Cambrian of Illinois. This is a very different species from the one I send you. I am glad to get some of them from you. I have seen some of them in Montana and Colorado. I have also seen some of them in Utah and Arizona. I have also seen some of them in California and Idaho. I have also seen some of them in Washington and Oregon. I have also seen some of them in Wyoming and Nebraska. I have also seen some of them in South Dakota and North Dakota. I have also seen some of them in Minnesota and Wisconsin. I have also seen some of them in Illinois and Indiana.

CANADA POST CARD

THE ADDRESS TO BE WRITTEN ON THIS SIDE

Dr. Wm Dawson
 Medicine University
 517, Allouez Montreal.