It is a queerly when people are to the mind of a thing in Boston how the money goes down and he will find it for some time to give out a general account to the guests a few of these empty turns will strike him for the money and nothing - Some of these are effects of honest things, little remarked until they are very close as begging - They are decorated around and there are other still which purport to be a copy of the nature of all these Walters in the way that they where the artist & many of the money at the party up the edge of it to get out for the duration - And my very see, with a lady's with little still, they are the report of and depend on a lady or in the upper very old and very low or any the capable of a useful applicant, which often appear when the first legs they say that any hole in the rug ground is a month cally for a day yet there are many who are not in a hurry to get into the stomach appear go into any of the pores, the skin of a day and you may see many of them half closed being as if of a hand of oiling or much less easy about - and they right when appear being is the first

 That many of these are as far as they appear may appear for a while to one of these benevolent but others which fades for the temporary accommodation of those who lately have not been to long may see them where they are A to look in the streets for any thing that may have been ^{lost} through them ~~a lot~~ and others who are ^{not} ~~are~~ content to gather the very filth and refuse of the streets to sell for manure and those who live by these disgusting trades are not always the old or maimed or their incapable of better employment. — Once I saw a girl who though thin and emaciated possessed a face and figure which might have been better circumstances ^{than} ~~than~~ ^{her} ~~her~~ a many were gathered ^{in the street} ~~with~~ her hands to her mouth in ~~public~~ ^{refuse} ~~refuse~~ ^{for} she might have bought herself to this — but we should judge charitably ~~and perhaps~~ ^{not} ~~not~~ ^{only} of honest industry and perhaps she may have descended to this to support and herself for the last and degrading to which poverty might have driven her ~~perhaps~~ It may be that before this is made she may have died unnoted & unperceived — and perhaps this ^{fact} of one whose piety glared was attracting a ~~poor~~ ^{poor} which seemed all unnoted to it which may be the only record left of a being capably of my lenienter devotion of just a land and hand place. But there is a square rule may answer the thought - then with a little wooden luge stuck with a little arrow gun is a head eyes you looky fellows who I say a that for a half penny the price of a mump ful aim being a dozen or two of rats and at a little distance you hear the voice of another dealer who wheely a carry with a start of course confertary and whose cry of you hear being a friend near to expand of you learn to indubitate that he is ready to chopure of his war for this time dit him and a row of of the and to which oblige or "O" as he shall expresses it seems a necessary gratifying There here are regular broods of being being to name him might be meeting but there are the avocates, appearing in being to meeting. Such are the organs and fiddle, who stand or walk putting sounds after another but numerous for the do what as what they expect - much people you will find they

The moth is a true lover of the flower - the caterpillar loves them but it is with a coquettish pleasing affection he rests in them with pedantic in a moment but it is only to collect himself for a new change - but your moth addresses himself to the flower of his change with an intensity of delight - perhaps he flutters before it with agility then the softness of his wings and his dancing motion as his long pedicels shake as the breeze meets - speaks of gentle influence charms thought a weeping if of a difference in glances giving he alights upon of a care glazes himself into its neck and cup - then under his attitude his wings are spread and his look as of joyful pride of his clasp in the velvet of his pleasure when attempts to take the large caterpillar a the green with a sudden which makes them appear as green vapors at his sides - he is a perfect charmer in nature his whole soul is absorbed in the gentleness which he feels - ~~But~~ On such occasions the Museum and may be useful before him in a skeleton full of ash and I may be useful to the students. I have generally select the after -glow of the scene of small things generally select recent flowers, though their bodies in these ~~small~~ matters are not always the most unexceptionable. I have seen flowers which are perfectly delightful with the very small flowers of the ocean but this and particularly the of the, I have seen flowers generally select the most which are delicate and beautiful - of course
