

The seed of steel a usual enemy in England. There are many elements of good at work, clear beyond any the mass; and the with the mass. Even this almost become identified with infidelity this one may tell Christian men of science only caring and single minded to the physical and the good of the fellow man and keep themselves as pure as paper to the wild shape of people in the mass of which, especially in a valley would into all sorts of propitiation. In Canada and the States the usual atmosphere is in these respects more healthy than in England and in upper France and is by the way with the mass of such things as would swallow the well and to retain its the plan or the least in the Christian Church and the world. Charles Kingsley men and educated Christians all part of the higher can surely earnestly struggle. It is unless by day & attempt to cheer the people of the gay system of reform; and on the other hand no nation can achieve greatness without its life without a deep under current of religious life. The United States has used its energies in to the future which is the only way to any other cause. The life of the United States has been a struggle for freedom and the lack of the in England & day is an man cause of the decay of the imperial spirit. Nothing could have permitted the cutting away of the British Empire than a great current of religious reform accompanied as it must be a great effort of the people and earnest study of the state of church and the social & the movement of the day.

 that is the man the influence of the colonies is on this side and that is only the colonies they have a capital influence on the higher intellects and designedly with liberty —

~~Science~~ The energetic movement in the Mother Country on behalf of Science & Science is beyond all praise. England has been proud that an uneducated artisan population in the present day receiving belief behind in the struggle of commercial competition that is a dangerous people coming people are carrying support in proportion to the intelligence, and that the unintelligent are receiving training in the intelligent. There is zeal and energy in the intelligent but for art and even education. Further it is felt that a higher style of Science man is required for the growth and advancement of the important arts and manufactures and for the scientific progress of the people. Hence the establishment of higher Science Schools about two years ago in London a day and Manchester — But still the means are found insufficient and recently a Royal Commission has been appointed to inquire as to the sufficiency of Perhaps the most discouraging fact in the life of the great heart of the Empire is the present utterance of religious Calvinism and the alienation of Christians from each and every life of the country, small and large, and the absence of the religious sense of the people. I am sure that pure Christians as in the New Testament would be the full men and women of the duties
