Oct 20th
My dear Aunt Deborah,
When I say that I
have just returned from a visit to Louie,
you will understand
why I have not yet
written to thank you all for your great kindness. It is to stay to be some time when all the rest of the family were gathered again.
She is looking so well, and that is as much a cause for thankfulness

as that she has enjoyed her summer in America
so much, for her health gave us a good deal of uneasiness last year.

I am thankful to say that Carrie's health seems quite re-established now You will know what I mean. Last week you will probably have had a visit from Howard & also from Hope & Ben.

It was quite a surprise to hear of the latter party and so late in the season

Keep some doctoring but change the figure & reply have returned from a two months absence, & are going to have your name & expect to spend the winter in the South. Kelly is better but still far from strong.
They were done (add see vice) & wish me to send them love to you & cooperate labours in your getting to successfully through your Associations labours.
Carrie had just gone to town to see Miss Galt before her departure, she was to have been with us last night, but was prevented leaving London in time. You will be glad to hear that Nathan had had been so successful with his exams.

Of course my visit to Tomie was most enjoyable, though the season was too late for excursions. One seems to live in a higher atmosphere there, & I feel that both Lochly & I spiritual health are improved by the visit.
Maggie J. is pretty well, though she has had some severe headaches lately & increasingly feels her deafness a real convalescence had always been such a pleasure to see.

You will be sorry to hear of poor Mrs. Campbell's trial, in losing her love objects so far from home.
She is the strict child suddenly taken from me, just when life was opening up before them, & only the three young are left. We all feel it very much too, for Alfred has always been like a brother to our young people just as Charles was before him. Both were young.

pieces of high power.
One full one at present in the full tide of venture month lectures leaving meetings &c. There are some being fact covered this month. Alice is at this subject & describing her day whole. She has ornaments with American art leaves, each very artist-ically on the panels.
They are far too pretty to be in such a place.
She had been very busy
and had not had time

rials of the Cavachona visit. Maggie & she touch love to all, the former reminds me that I have not used your title in addressing
you, will you excuse the omission. If I had remembered, it would not have felt natural to do so yet.

The Puddalls are all well, so is Ben Crow. Arthur is in Bremen on business this week. With love to all, believe me ever
