

flowers to ⁵ Berghoff he was quite dissapointed that he did not get any when Leonrad and Clara got some for he said he had asked you to send him some. It is a beautiful day

now (at seven ^{a.m.} o'clock) but I do not know if it will keep so nice and sunshiny. The children are getting so fat Erce says
"dinning-room horridge" is nicer than nursery horrige"; the other morning I was told that she ate eight helpings of horrige

Baby's face is so very much better on his cheeks there are just one or two little specks and his chin is so much better, you don't see any blood on the front of his dress any more. Are you going to stay at Washington on your way home.

I suppose if the chickadees are going to Metis early that we will go to Ametis by ourselves or if you are staying a few days later we could go with you. Mrs Molson,
