Dear Bill:

I have just come back from New York where I have been talking in the Ghetto on an altogether Ghettoish polyglandular syndrome. While there, I called on Archie who seems to be going strong; and we naturally spoke of McGill and you. This must have telepathically led you to write to me, perhaps at the same moment, and to ask me to come and pay you a visit and to address the Osler Society.

I am glad you make this invitation an annual one because it always gives me a chance to write you a note and to keep you encouraged about my some day sending an acceptance.

But there's nothing possible about it this year. I shall be making no pleasant expeditions of this kind because I am up to my neck in trying to salvage what I can of my last twenty years' clinical work before I pull out of here. Hence, it's the doctors of the Ghetto I shall be more likely to be addressing than historically-minded people like yourself.

With my best to you as always and with my love to Hilda and Hildakins who I suppose is growing up to a point where she will soon be attending balls,

Always yours,

W.C.

Dear Bill:

Would you mind looking over the enclosed screed which I have put together at Leonard Mackall's solicitation, as I have stated in the prefatory note? I don't know whether the Oxford Press will be willing to publish this or whether it is worth while; but some people who have a copy of the first printing might be glad to insert the slips if they can be put on thin paper.

It is just possible that it might be made more enlivening if some cross notes to the Bibliotheca could be made, as when W.O. referred in some of his letters to purchases of books that particularly interested him. But however this may be, do give me your slant on it, and if you have any things to add that will improve it or make it more interesting, do tack them on; and then I shall see what the Press has to say about it. I personally think the notes are far more interesting and important than the corrigenda, particularly your note about the "sharp taunt".

With love to the family, I am

Always yours,

My dear Harvey:

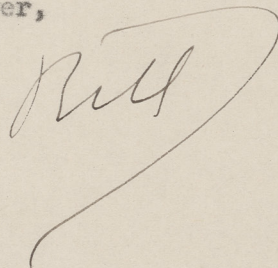

I have been using the great book constantly for seven years, and have made a few pencil marks in the margins, but I had no idea anyone could compile such a long list of emendata as that which I received from you yesterday. I am going through it systematically with my own and the library copies, to see what I can add to it, and with a view to cross-notes from the Bibliotheca, as you suggest. When I have finished I shall write you what I think should be done about it.

From the contradictory reports I am always getting from our friends, I conclude that your plans for the future are not yet settled. Please do not forget your promise to send me those two filing cases full of the material for the Life, if and when you have to move.

All goes well here, except that I am deserted. Hilda and Marian have gone to the seaside in New Brunswick for a few weeks, and then we all go to Como for the rest of the summer.

Love to you and yours,

Yours ever,

Dr. Harvey Cushing,
Peter Bent Brigham Hospital,
B o s t o n, Mass.

Dear Harvey:

Yours of the 28th this morning. Don't apologise.
You can't "pester" me with questions like that one.

#7651 in the Library comprises two volumes of material about "Whole-time Clinical Professors - J.H.H.", and Flexner's printed Report, undated, consisting of 25 printed pages, preceded by 2 blank pages. It occupies leaves 5-18 of vol. i. I shall get it photostated for you. It is headed on p. 1, "Confidential,"* and begins "The plant of the Johns Hopkins Medical School..." I shall refer to this as Flexner I.

* full title in margin of original.

The following, in addition to your hint, I take to be evidence for the existence of a second report, Flexner II, of which we, unfortunately, have not a copy:

(1) A correspondent who wrote to W.O., 1 May, 1911 (i, leaf 21), that he agreed with the tenor of the whole of Flexner I, writes again, on the 9th (leaf 29), "Since then it has transpired that another secret printed report has been circulated among the trustees, coming from Mr. Flexner... This report is excessively personal, taking up different heads of departments and their associates, and in many instances severely condemning their work and methods... None of the rest of us, except Dr. Welch, knew anything about its existence until a copy was given to Dr. Young by one of the trustees who had received it..."

(2) W.O., in his privately printed "Whole-time Clinical Professors, a Letter to President Remsen", dated 1 Sept., 1911, says on p. 12 (i, leaf 48, verso), "And, shades of Marion Sims, Goodell and Gaillard Thomas! this is the department which the 'Angel of Bethesda', in the fullness of his ignorance, suggests should be, if not wiped out, at any rate merged with that of Obstetrics!" I cannot find any such suggestion in Flexner I.

[KELLY'S]

If you ever unearth a Flexner II, please let me have a copy.

Leaf 15, vol. ii, #7651, is a letter from you dated 16 Dec., 1913, about full-time proposals at the Brigham & Tabulae Sex, with a handwritten PS. about a visit from the Godlees and about your Harvard Historical Club. You also asked W.O. for a copy of his "Whole-time" pamphlet mentioned above. I suppose you have it? There are no spare copies here.

Love to you and yours.

W.C. Kelly

P.S. Dr. George Dock turned up yesterday to work here for a few days, on Angina. He doesn't look any older.

Cushing 30.vi.32.

I have inserted the following note, dated 1931, in #7651:

For the development of W.O.'s views on this "Whole-time" question, see:

Brit. M.J., 1913, ii (Nov. 8th), p. 1255 -

Letter signed W.O., dated 5 Nov.; also an editorial, p. 1242. Here W.O. warns against the dangers inherent in the scheme.

He is answered in the no. for Nov. 15th by W.H.W. (Welch, apparently, if he was in England at that time) in a letter dated 10 Nov., p. 1330. Two letters signed 'P' & 'L.E.S.', in answer to W.H.W., and dated 15 and 18 Nov., are on pp. 1406-7, in the no. for Nov. 22nd.

Memorial Vol., 1926 (no. 7747), p. 591, prints

W.O.'s circular dated 29 Aug. 1919, urging the adoption of whole-time professorships at McGill.

Then there is also W.O.'s paper on "The Hospital Unit in University Work", 1911.

The "Memorial Volume" in the above note refers, of course, to Dr. Abbott's compilation.

Dear Bill:

Thanks for your letter. Don't bother about the errata papers until you have had your vacation. I am in a perfect turmoil here dismantling my rooms with lamentations, preparatory to getting off on the seventeenth for the physiological congress in Rome, where I shall foregather with John Fulton and Klebs and Viets. I can tend to getting the errata papers published when I get back if the Press will take them as I hope they will. I am sure they will be far more interesting for your additions. Please let me know when you are going to get back so that I can see if the boxes can't be sent off to you before I leave, but if I don't manage this, I will have them shipped on my return about October 1.

I hope you are having a delightful time at Como and that the family are thriving. Give them all my love.

Dear Bill:

I hope I haven't overburdened you with that errata business. I shouldn't have wished it on you and merely sent the things we had done off for your criticism. Mackall has been prodding me about it, as I must have told you, for several years.

I am gradually dismantling things here. I find that it would be quite impossible to send that huge filing case off to you with any possibility of its arriving with its loosely packed folders in place. Consequently, I think it's best to box them and I have just finished the first box and will send it along in the course of time. I suppose I can get it through the customs if I have someone come up here and stamp it when it is finally closed.

This contains the first full draft of the manuscript. I hadn't any idea how much it would cover printed until one evening I got Greenslet of Houghton Mifflin's to come out and look at it, and he said it would be at least three volumes, which scared me and I began promptly to cut it down with pains and tears. The next copy was the one Julia Shepley took to Oxford to be O.K.'d by Lady Osler and Mrs. Chapin, as you will remember. And that one was again abbreviated as much as I dared when you were there giving me such valuable aid. I gave that copy to Miss Shepley, who wanted to keep it.

Whether this will be of any interest to you, I can't imagine. I suppose it can be burned up in Montreal as well as here.

In this first box are typescript copies of all the G.R.O. letters that they permitted me to see from the house in Canton with the ostensible purpose of getting dates. I hope some one someday might really do a proper biography of her. Moorehead's excellent memoir has only scratched the surface. Perhaps you can get Campbell to do it, for I am sure there are several trunks full of these letters still in Canton which will someday be destroyed.

Then there are other things which I haven't taken time to look over, apparently dealing with press and also newspaper clippings about W.O. and the book when published. Perhaps the most valuable things for you are the two colored scratch books of Father Johnson's which Arthur Johnson gave to me. There was a large packing case full of them, I suppose a hundred or so, in the old house in Toronto. What has become of them I can't imagine, unless Norman Gwyn may have them. I've always felt that Father Johnson's biography ought to be written by someone, and I hope it may be someday. If all this stuff interests you, there will be two other boxes of equal size, one with all the correspondence dealing with the biography in course of preparation, and the other with all the notes chronologically arranged year by year, only about a fourth of which I managed to work in. Do you think you will want them, and can you get a filing case up there to put them in. Unfortunately, this case rightfully belongs here and I am afraid a lot of Osler material has from time to time been thrown away to make room for hospital correspondence during these later years.

Extract from letter of Dr. MacNalty, July 10, 1932:

"Yes, I believe I wrote the paragraph 'He advanced the science of medicine...' which Cushing printed at the end of Osler's Life. I think it came at the end of some notes which I made for Cushing's purposes about Sir William and what I knew of him. But I took no copy of what I had written and it is over eleven years ago so I cannot quite swear to the authorship."

Thanks for the photostat, which has just come, but this is not the original Flexner paper in which he attacks the various members of the clinical staff by name. I have tried in vain to get a copy of it, and though I think there is every reason for Brother Abraham not to be particularly proud of it, I nevertheless want it to complete my set of papers, and shall hope some day to come across it.

Mackall has just written to remind me to be sure to put a note to the effect that the last quotation in the Biography was from that nice man, MacNalty. So please, when you come around to making your additions to those sheets, stick in an added note to this effect.

I hope you've had a good vacation and have come back full of energy and health. I have just had a visit from Archie last night, who as usual is full of business.

My dear Harvey:

Let me know if I am keeping the errata papers too long. I had hoped to finish them before I went on my holidays two weeks ago and I cannot very well work on them at Como. I have another week to go and am just in time to show the visiting astronomers the Library.

I am very grateful for your letter of July 18th and the promise of the packing cases containing your material for the biography. I am sorry not to have it in the filing case, but that cannot be helped, and I am not quite sure where I will find room to put it all, but I must have it and get it into order again some day, and readily available, for I am sure it will not only be interesting but useful, as there was so much they made you cut down before the book was printed. I do not think you need bother about customs at that end. This is, of course, a port of entry and University authorities can get the material through without trouble.

I have heard from the Academy of Medicine in Toronto that they have two of Capt. Johnson's sketch-books, with a few loose-leaf sketches and small books of Father Johnson's. It would seem that there must be a lot more somewhere. I shall get Norman Gwyn on their trail. Miss Poole of the Academy also says that she understands that a sketch of Johnson was to be compiled and issued as a brochure this year in connection with some anniversary meeting of the Church of England. I shall try to find out who is doing it.

My holidays have also delayed those photostats of Flexner's Johns Hopkins Medical School Report (from no. 7651) which I promised you and which apparently have been waiting to be sent. I am forwarding them under separate cover. These 13 photostats go to you with our compliments.

Love to you and yours.

Dear Harvey:

Thanks for yours of the 1st.

I am back from my holidays, but there is no hurry about the books. They can well await your return if that should be more convenient.

I recently read Rührh's MS. of his Life and Works of W.O., which has been occupying the poor fellow's disabled leisure. I have told Thomas that I think it is worth publishing. The first part is a not very satisfactory abbreviation of your great work, but the second part is more original, ~~is~~ an analysis of the man and his works. It needs a good deal of revision before going into print.

I envy you your trip. Give my love to Klebs when you see him.

We are all well and enjoying life at Como.

Yours ever,

Rich

My daer Harvey,

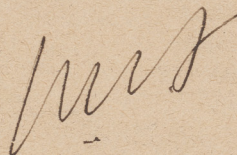

The three boxes reached me a week ago and in good order. I ought to have notified you promptly, but I didn't expect you back on this side so soon, and with my secretary away on holiday my correspondence has been neglected. I haven't yet found out what caused the delay in getting them out of customs here. I sent the 1st notification promptly to the University official who looks after such things -- holidays again, I suspect. There always seems to be trouble with things sent by express across the border either way. I regret very much you should have had this shock.

Before opening the boxes I am getting a filing cabinet to hold the contents, which, I know, are going to be interesting and useful. It is very good of you to send them.

I hope you have had a good unsuperannuating trip and that your plans, which have kept your friends mystified and you, probably, worried, are satisfactorily settled.

Dear Bill:

I am just back from abroad and am perfectly horrified to find this postcard in regard to the boxes which we shipped up to you last August. This card evidently found its way slowly to 305 Walnut Street instead of to the Hospital; otherwise Miss Stanton would have looked into the matter. It seems to me peculiar that they didn't notify you, but I am afraid it was perhaps casual of us just to have sent them by express, knowing of course that they were non-dutiable and supposing that you would be notified about it. I hardly know what steps to be taken from this end and think it would possibly be a good thing for you to get in touch with A. S. Dear Bill:

Did you ever get that picture of Dr. Shepherd which I sent on? You probably may not have room for it, if it has come, but you can possibly turn it over to someone else.

Do let me know about the list of errata. I shouldn't have burdened you with it, but I thought it would add to its interest if you would ^{add} ~~make~~ a few notes to it. Still, this is pretty vague and you are doubtless very busy, and I suggest that you ship it along so that I can turn it in to Mackall who really instigated my attempting to do it.

Always yours,

Peter Bent Brigham

Dear Bill:

I thought this picture of Shepherd ought to go in your collection or be somewhere in the general library in case they do not have one.

Always yours,

Dr. Francis:

I'll mail the picture as soon as I can find a suitable receptacle. It is rather large and awkward to pack. I hope it will reach you safely. W. W. Francis

Dear Bill:

Have you among your precious documents a copy of Abraham Flexner's privately circulated report to the J.H.H. trustees circa 1912? I remember seeing a lot of letters to W.O. from Barker, Howard Kelly, and others, but I don't remember whether they had ever sent him one of these papers.

The whole movement has been so important and is of such historical interest that I am putting together to bind the pamphlets I have on the subject and I would like to get the photostat or copy of this one, for there may possibly have been two. Some years ago I wrote to Brother Abraham to ask if he could provide me with one and he referred me to Popsy, to whom I wrote in turn, and he referred me to Mr. Gates, so I let it drop.

I hope you won't think I am pestering you too much with all these sudden documents and letters.

Best love to you all.

Always yours,

Harvey Cushing

My dear Harvey,

From a par. on the "Tercentenary of John Locke" in the current no. (75, vol.vii), p.104, of the Bodleian Q. R. :-

"Rawlinson's copy of the first edition of the Essay Concerning Human Understanding is also exhibited.

This contains the additions which Locke made in his second edition and which he separately printed on slips of paper so that purchasers of the first edition might insert them in their copies. Rawlinson in a note on a fly-leaf commends the 'honesty of the great Mr. Locke' for his thoughtful and generous action. ..."

This suggests to me that your Addenda and Corrigenda might be printed on one side of the p paper only. They could then be cut out and pasted to the relevant pages by those who have the Oslerian inserting habit. Others might be glad to have the blank pages for their own notes. Anyway, all the right-minded will commend the honesty

I'm pleased that you found my Comments &c. congenial. The rude Hands-off-pasten-sie-nicht one was meant for Leonardo da Ga., obsecrating him by his Go(d)ethe.

Yrs ever,

Dr. Cushing
Boston.

P.S. Glad Butts is elected 2nd (or 3rd?) 'Lady of the Land' - but better the real daughter of the French Princeps (or was it Prime facies the reporter called you?) of Newswoman than the in-law of the Pres. of the U.S., say me -
