Dear Sir

In accordance with your request for Ooler letters (Brit. Med. Journ., Apr. 10),

I have much pleasure in submitting some (4) notes, of which one at least, written by him in his last illness, is most interesting. It was sent to Prof. Keith by Sir Clifford Allbutt, and was handed to me by Keith.

Sir William Ooler was always admirably terse as a business correspondent and delighted us at this library by his brevity and hatred of fuss. Some of his notes to me consisted of one word only (Yes or No) besides his signature.

I don't find that Osler's eulogists have commented on this epistolary brevity, so characteristic of the clear direct mind behind it.
Pray return the notes some time.

Believe me

Faithfully yours

Victor G. Plarr.
