

If the presses of continental Europe were busy full of type reports - The early years of the printing press saw

More than any other agency, the printing press freed men's minds from the shackles of authority; and though in the first half century of its utterance the books which were issued were chiefly printed editions of the authorities;

the early days

The great fact that had been labelled against <sup>the shackles of</sup> authority had in no way been these shackles being broken up in the early days; they were used to wrap the printed page and the press of the four men of the early years. Cinqcento was engaged in printing manuscripts the further shackles of authority which had been imposed by church and no less than the dogma that shackled medicine,

South Europe were busy re-planting seeds - certain degrees were revolutionizing ideas.

As the three Elementary Principles in the art of painting Persian emphasized the outline, the colour and the light and shade. Of these the regard the outline to the perfection as the most difficult to attain.

It is otherwise with a biography for here the outline is easiest whereas the light and shade and colour particularly in a life scene or Ovals are most elusive. For <sup>his</sup> was a life chief, of light and colour used only one real shadow cast upon it was the end of the story. ~~It was~~ ~~different from the lives of most men~~ It differed from the lives of most men as gently as does a Charles window from a window pane from the glass at Charles. One hand knew the former is there and ~~gone~~ <sup>gone</sup> it is long refused; the latter is unique and irreplaceable, capable of imitation but not of reproduction.

But the colours ~~figures~~ - compared - compared Ovals life were not stationary; they were ~~calendric~~ <sup>turning</sup> into place with successive ~~changes~~ <sup>changes</sup> ~~the best of the combination~~ <sup>the</sup> however they happened to face <sup>day by day</sup> he made the best of the combination and lived according to.