My dear Slawey,
I am just beginning the second volume of your life of Sir William Osler. I can wait no longer to tell you how much I am enjoying it.

I have seen Dr Osler (as then) the few times I did in Baltimore. I was interested to read the book in order to know more of him, and also because you wrote it.
I now feel as if I knew him well, & can appreciate the great charm & strength of the man, & the amount he accomplished.

You have drawn such a vivid picture of him, & his youth & the ambition that fired him & made him the power that he was.

I marvel at his many interests, & the many books he read, how did so busy, & active a man be find time for such exhaustive reading. I suppose it was because he was so big a man. What an example you have shown for young men, medical men especially to follow.

When you see friends the time is surely a busy man, to look at as much as you must know so many notes I believe I do much to be benefited. You certainly know them a great number, I am interested in. I am sure you find I appreciate.
I want to add my thanks to appreciation to the other.

Always most sincerely
Your
Morgan W. Stone
