Dear Dr. Cushing,

Congratulations on your Asker! You have not only written a very delightful biography but have also made closer an Anglo-American union, I am sure. We have had an interesting group of Englishmen here at the clinic and I know that they are quite astounded that an American could write the biography of an Englishman with such feeling and sympathy.

One of the group, Dr. Thomas Woble, is going to Boston shortly and is very anxious to meet you. I have told him to call you at the Bygham.

Dr. Woble has been consultant with Dr.

Henderson and is now on his way to London.

He leaves within a year for Siam where he is to be professor of surgery at the Royal University. Dr. Woble is a most delightful Scotchman and will truly appreciate any time you may spare him.

There are all sorts of rumors about the elms that you are at last coming to see us this fall. If so we shall put on our best bib and tucker! Professor Luck and Dr. Du Bois have been to see us, you know!

Please accept my sincere thanks for any courtesies you may extend to Noble.

Sincerely,

Dene Sandford

August twelfth.
