UPLANDS,
FOLKESTONE.

27th June, 1925.

My dear Doctor Cushing,

I am much obliged for your letter of the 15th instant. I am delighted to know that a second impression is being called for. That does not surprise me. What fine reviews you are getting. Also not surprising.

I am expecting daily a copy of my book. One of the first copies will necessarily go to you for your kind acceptance.

You speak of your Vesalian Collection. What does this consist of besides the engraved portraits and printed works which you showed me,?

The American doctors, so far from being regarded as a plague, were cheerfully and warmly welcomed for their own aimable sakes, and not by reason of formal hospitality. There was much enthusiasm, damped only by the fact of your absence.

Always sincerely yours,

M. H. Spielmann

Dr. Harvey Cushing.
