Dr. Harvey Cushing.
Boston, Mass.

Dear Dr. Cushing:

I have just finished the Osler, and have enjoyed it so thoroughly that I feel a concern, as my Quaker ancestors would have expressed the feeling to write you what a splendid piece of work I think you have done in the biography.

I entered the Hopkins just after Dr. Osler went to Oxford, but attended one of his clinics, and in 1915 while with the Red Cross, had the delightful experience of lunching with him in Oxford. His personality has been one of my greatest admirations and your book makes him seem almost a personal friend.

I had never realized how deeply interested he was in tuberculosis or the part that he played in instituting the campaign for its suppression.

My thanks are yours, and your name should be added to his catalogue of physicians of literary distinction.

Yours truly

W. H. Morris
