Dear Cushing:

This is a very much delayed note of congratulations on your biography of Sir William. I need not try to tell you how delightfully and sympathetically the work was done. There is too great a chorus for my small voice. I read the two volumes at Bournemouth last summer, and was reminded of the visit I paid the Oslers at their charming cottage just across the way at Swanage. I think I sent Lady Osler a note from Bournemouth.

Now I am writing to ask you for a reprint of your excellent Cameron lectures, and to enclose you a copy of my presentation remarks anent the Welch bust. You will, I hope, see the bust when you are in Baltimore, or you can see a replica at the Rockefeller Institute. It is generally acclaimed good.

Very best wishes to you all.

Yours sincerely,

Irwin Slesinger
