SYDNEY.

21st., October, 1925.

Dear Dr. Cushing,

I have been endeavouring to obtain the information you wanted with regard to the late Dr. Cameron but I find that very little is known about him. However, there are a few particulars that may be of some use and you will notice that he also founded a scholarship in the University of Sydney.

I have just been enjoying Volume 1 of your "Life of Osler". I had to give it up for some time as I found it so stimulating at night that I could not sleep afterwards. This is really an appreciation. It was the section dealing with Osler's early life that made me so restless. I had a long period of sleeplessness following that attack of encephalitis but my normal ability to sleep at any time has returned and it is not often that anything excites me as much as your book did.

DR. CUSHING.

There was what appeared to me a very excellent review in the Medical Journal of Australia, and I am forwarding a copy to you.

A young Hunter, of the male persuasion, has arrived.

With kind regards.

Yours sincerely,

M.S. Rowell

P.S. If you have a photograph of yourself to spare I would like it. I have both Allison & Osgood. M.S.R
