My dear Dr. Cushing;

I cannot refrain from sending you my warmest congratulations on the splendid work you have done in your "Life of Sir William Osler". Those of us who had any contact with him even of the slightest were inspired to do our very best. He was to all the great physician of our time. You have done us a high service in making the man so real in your pages and no small part in his influence on future generations of medical men will be due to your picture of the true Osler. You have done for him what he did for our medical forebears.

Your book is a fascinating story, excellently told, and lay readers as well as medical men feel they cannot stop before the last page.

With the hope that you will accept this tribute from a stranger - "A rose to the living . . . . .", believe me,

Sincerely yours,

Clayton W. Greene
