From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

9, September, 1914.

Dear Barker,

As a profession, I think we should take an interest in trying to help our brethren at Louvain. Of course, nothing could be done at present, but an Anglo-American committee could be formed, so that when these modern Huns are out of the country, we could put matters into shape. I should be particularly interested in helping with the Library and in getting them all the editions of Vesalius. I have been trying to get into touch with Van Gehuchten and Denis, so as to offer to take charge here in Oxford of the members of the families of the Professors.

Sincerely yours,
W^m Osler

Love to the family & to 'Hump'
