

Little Helen
Friday.

Dearest Edward.

I was quite overcome by your long and dear letter yesterday, it was a beautiful letter, and so good of you to think of all those things.

You are right about mother and she knows about herself now, she does not know what the trouble is, and does not want to know - but she knows that she is not getting better and she is making all plans

She spoke of yr with deep affection last night, I wish yr could come down for a few days just before we go up, but likely it would not be possible —

What ~~is~~ is a sedan chair & where does one get one. Yr see there is nobody here who could carry it. & the slightest effort is so hard for mother, but let me know about it any way won't you dear? —

I have been able to through

Some trouble to get ice, good butter, cream & ice cream for mother, so that my trip down has not been in vain -

I know you are lovely darling, but you must spare me a little longer till the end of the month won't you ~~dear~~ - I am lucky to have a home - Poor Claire it is hard for her.

Will you pick the pansies in the garden I picked every thing just before I left.

Alice & John are very happy here. I went in bathing yesterday & it was lovely. and did not seem much colder than the lake.

Have you got your axes on the lake shore yet?

I have written to Kitty & your father - please excuse this scrawl & please remember that your letters are a great help to me at present dear old Tompkins.

yours

Lois.

please forward
