Dearest boy -

how we begin to hear of Lois' passage being taken, regrets that she cannot stay longer - I wish she could myself, as it is not quite so easy to go again, still she will have had 4 months & she has her teaching work to begin - think of our Lois, in such a lofty position, ordering about the little girls!! - & she will be so glad to pay her own way - I would like to save up, & have a little capital to fall back upon - Eva is well as - i.e. she generally breakfasts with us she is off to the Lake today & we earnestly hope that she will ~~bring~~ ~~bring~~ ~~bring~~ ~~bring~~ ~~bring~~ fish - we have had neither herring nor halibut

they put out the nets & do not catch one fish, I do not know why - some one said the new lighthouse frightens them, others that there are numerous porpoises who have frightened them all away, surely they cannot affect the halibut!! In any case we get no fish, & all the households are crying and about it.

I saw Mrs M. today she is not well, & very nervous about her attacks, is afraid to walk about, she does dream every second day, but it was quite pathetic to see her active feet-up on a sofa, & two nurses within call =

Have you written to her lately? She wd be so pleased to hear from you. It wd be a real kindness

Do you know that one of the Harris daughters is now at Labrador working

Grandmother taking good walks Has no feeling better - does her work & her -

I understand far Dr Green-fel? I was so surprised to be told so - I hope you got the Greenfel book from B.G. - Tell me -

Conrad seems well pleased with his work & its advancement - but his heart longs for Melis & now Muriel is here, it is the one place he longs to be &
you can't wonder.

I have just finished a very pretty table centre for her future dining table - she does look pretty always tidy & dainty.

Mr Stark's molder is much better which is surprising but very good.
They have altered the inside of their house & it is quite a new place, & so pretty.

all continues to go on with you, dear boy. I hope - every time I hear my Bible more & more wonderful things I hear every day I live & every night - I lie down quietly. I

I understand more of the wonderful ways of the almighty, all looking Father who is over us all.

Much much love
Mother
