Dearest Will,

Corr has gone, & in deed we did not see much of him. He looked well, & he had a good time with Lucrèce who looked very well in her new spring hat & bunches of violets Mrs S. - has been ill & their servants new & useless, & a great many also - so their hands are full

Dear son, your last letter gave me the greatest pleasure to feel that you are doing your best, & learning to work well & faithfully, as in God's sight is indeed good news

I told you that Mr Tuckey said you were improving, he is pretty up & down - I shouldn't you find his tasks hard sometimes - but I do believe he is thinking of your highest good & trying to help you for your father's & grandfather's sake. I believe that overcometh - great things are promised" & he that is faithful in that which is best, will be given greater things -

How good the hotel's air smelt, be of the sunshine, & the blue sea. Even in town the air is full of the wonder & glory of spring - Today it felt really hot - Had I not spend a day with you though I fear I shd not be much good at cutting fence rails, I shd be in of the branches in fine style -

<sup>my</sup> God bless you dear son - I am full of hope for your new & the work will be your good friend - It is a lot better & more useful than merely playing your golf 4. Acres? & the hoops? did you look inside? = Does Mr. Tuckey get the witness?

Con. lined at the Fleet but I did not hear on ward about them, as he had stayed to Sherbrooke St. = I did not return till I was in bed.

Mr. Wilson leaves for Toronto tomorrow - & his wife & means come out next month.

Lovingly

Mother

We liked your Easter booklets very much so much & in such very good taste.
