

Halifax 1 Sep. 1845

My dear Sir,

I write you a hasty line by the Star yet today but fearing it may be evening I need not to suppress a hope that you will be able to come over with Miss (servant holy new arrival) - Mr. Hays and I propose to be on the ground on Monday - and I hope you will be able to come over by the return of the Star and A. G. Archibald will find means of transporting you to Londonderry.
You and Mr. Hays will be pleased with each other and it is so seldom you have an opportunity in this country of meeting a man of success that I hope nothing will occur to prevent your coming over - at once if possible - You will be able to do 1844

we just discover and at the same time to acquire all you will need for your intended purposes - Hoping to see you soon - I remain your friend

C. D. [Signature]

Perhaps you will bring some acids that you can depend on - and also have a small apparatus for analysis and a few Hessian Circuits.

Let
C. D. Archibald
