

Scudder & Imbricorocles

Cambridge June 23/85

Dear Mr William

I have suspected for some time that my Libellula carbonaria, at which I took a second look last summer at the McGill Museum, was the abdomen of an Arachnid, and I have to day come across a specimen, ^{from Michigan} with ~~the~~ ^{parts} attached, which looks as if it might be the same thing. I should therefore be much obliged if you could let me see the specimen again for a few days for direct comparison.

If you can please send the specimen by registered mail to secure it from danger of loss, and oblige

Yours truly

Lawrence Scudder
