Prof. Sir J. William Dawson.

Dear Sir :--

At the meeting of the American Committee of the International Congress of Geologists held in New York May 22, 1886, the undersigned was appointed Treasurer and requested to present to the individual members a statement of the expenses incurred in the preparation of the report of the proceedings of the Berlin Congress (in English) with the color schemes, in conformity with the order of the committee of January last, and call attention to the necessity of each member remitting his proportion of the sum total to Dr. Frazer, who has so successfully brought the report to completion and has already advanced a considerable part of the money needed for its publication.

I have examined the bills and find the following a correct statement of the expenses incurred in publishing the pamphlet of proceedings and reports:
