Stillside,
Chateauguay Basin
Sept 4th 1877.

Dr - Dawson,

Dear Sir.

I have not availed myself of your kind invitation to visit the College again, but especially desire to do so now, as I have friends from Boston to arrive to-morrow for a week's visit who are very much interested in your work, one of the ladies being a friend of Mr Scudder's. This lady is a daughter of James Freeman Clarke and a scientific enthusiast, for a young lady. I should like to show her the science of the city and cannot do so without a glimpse of your museum if I am not asking too much.

The Geological Survey is free, and I think will delight my friends, the No. 4, Rooms I can obtain by payment as I have several times done. But — although I give the entrance fee cheerfully and gladly. Why is there a fee in Montreal more than in any other city? It looks so narrow to stranger's eyes.

I should not trouble you were it any other visitor, but the lady is familiar with Harvard and Cornell, indeed all the Northern Colleges through her father and I should like her to see our Mc Gill.

Awaiting your permission I am Respectfully yours
Annie L. Jack,
address.

Mrs Annie L. Jack. Hillside.
Chateaugay Basin.
