

W Hadden
Copy

Springfield, Mass
Oct. 26, 1877

Principal Dawson S.D.

Dear Sir:

I am about to undertake the care of a new magazine, entitled "Sunday Afternoon" - the character of which will be something like that of "Good Words." I have promised contributions from some of our best men - such as Dr.
Howard Crosby, Professor Fisher ^{and Wayland} of Yale, Rev. Leonard W. Bacon, and others.
I desire, among other features, to have a series of articles, quite popular in their character, on the relations of science and religion, and it would give

Dear

I have thought for some months to contribute to your publication magazine. It might find me by well & not some other of the kind for members provided that I could place the price at the price of the ordinary of the at a similar amount of time for both I would like to see your paper before I send a check of about $10 to see how a printed amount of the paper is not that I might better by a single amount to publish & your contribution.

we great pleasure to print one or more such articles from your pen. What particular phases of this general question could be most profitably treated in a popular magazine you would know much better than I.

The articles would not need to be long - from 4000 to 6000 words would do. Our pages will average about 700 words, and we could offer you eight dollars a page, as a remuneration.

We hope that the magazine will reach at once a large and influential constituency, and believe that you would then be able to confer great benefit upon many people.

May we hear from you at once whether we may expect your aid?

Very truly yours
Washington Gladden

