My dear Sir,

Mr Pattison has shown me your letter to him, & we have had some conference on the subject with the officers of the Society. On the whole it appears to us that the third, of your three suggested plans, would best meet our requirements, & the present state of thought on the subject - We have proposed the title "The Origins of Life, upon the Earth" - (Origins rather than origin, & avoid the metaphysical questions) - Can you suggest anything better -

As a guide to the size & form of the book we think of producing, I send you by post a copy of our "Origin of Nations" by Canon Rawlinson

We should like abundant illustrations & are very glad that you can furnish what we should need in this respect

Will you favour me with a line or two to say whether you can undertake the work in this particular form, & when we could have the M.S.? We should purchase the English copyright — should you prefer to retain the American or should we undertake the circulation of the book on both sides of the Atlantic?

Yours very truly
