Little Metis
P.Q.

July 15, 1878

My dear sir,

I have been occupying myself for a little at this watering place in writing out for publication my address on "The Present Rights and Duties of Science" recently delivered to the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Cambridge and would be glad to give it to you for the Princeton Review if you think the subject would be desirable. It was well received at Harvard, though in some respects too conservative for the prevailing notions there, and I think might do good if more widely circulated.

I would make no conditions as to remuneration, leaving this to yourself, except that I would wish to have say 100 copies printed as a separate pamphlet which I might circulate among friends.

I spoke from notes at Cambridge; but am writing out the whole in the form of an article and will have the U.S. ready before the end of July.
An answer at any time before that date
will be in time.

Truly yours
W. Dawson

P.S. My address will be as usual - McGill College, Montreal, as I am here only for a limited time. Yrds
