Dear W. Dawson

after looking over
the ground very carefully I am prepared to ask that you revise the article
as delivered at Harvard;
and send it to me to be used in one of the following numbers,
when I can make it
most convenient.

Please, however, shorten
the article, say from five to ten pages.

I am beginning to learn that the proper length of articles is from fifteen to twenty pages, and since I have so much on hand at this moment I should thank you to make the article as concise as proper.

"The Rights and Duties of Science" is a grand theme, I hope that it will not be long before it can be made available. I hope that your own
