Dear Sir, —

Your favor with the coral & Brachiopod enclosed, was duly received, but the specimens were very badly smashed, so as to be scarcely determinable, but the coral is probably the same as one sent me by Whiteaves from the same locality, that appears to be Paracyathus caltha V., described in my paper on Polyps of the Pacific Coast, in Trans. Conn. Acad.

several years ago. The Original examples were from California & I have no farther information as to its range except this occurrence at the B.
Charlotte Is.

The Brachiopod is in too comminuted a condition to be recognized, I fear, unless it be rare it would hardly pay to try to restore it.

Very respectfully yours
A. E. Verrill
