

is any accusation based upon fact against her,
I will use my best efforts to have her relieved from its consequences. If she is entirely innocent, there must be some amends. In any case, I know it is her real interest to have as little litigation as possible, and will take a personal interest in seeing that no injustice is done.

I was so much insured yesterday and today that I was unable ^{personally} to give to your letters the prompt attention they deserved.

I am very dear Sir
Dawson,

Sincerely yours
