April 14th 1888.

Dear Sir:

Really, is not this Journal the proper place for the publication of your series of lectures recently delivered at Hartford?

Both the Journal and myself stand now wholly dis severed from the Institute of Christian Philosophy of which Dr Deems is president; and I am free to make the former all you and I both could desire. Will you kindly read with care the list of objects I propose to promote thereby? and then assent to aiding me as far as you can in accomplishing them? I strongly and earnestly request your coöperation.

Very sincerely yours

The Journal of Christian Philosophy

IS DESIGNED,

Through the engagement of highest Evangelical scholarship of our own land and of other countries:

1. To present anew the various branches of the Theistic argument, with special reference to the multiplied proofs afforded by the progress and discoveries of Science, Natural History, Biology, and Psychology in late years, for the existence, character, and plan of God.
2. To discuss the relations of the Supernatural to the Natural, particularly in regard to Providence and Revelation.
3. To restate the Evidences of Christianity in the light of modern criticism, making prominent the fact and the perfection of Christ himself as an exposition of the Divine, as a power for awakening a faultless moral life, and as a demonstration in his resurrection of Immortality.
4. To bring to the confirmation and elucidation of the Bible the gainful results of contemporary study in its history and languages, together with the constantly increasing light furnished by the monuments of antiquity and by geographical exploration.
5. To promote a more general culture in the Reasons of our Hope, the increase of positive religion, and the application of the principles of the Gospel to political, social, and private life.
6. To adapt such essays to the restoration of Belief in Christ among those whose faith may have been shaken by the destructive speculations and materialistic theories of our day, and to counteract all tendencies toward doubt, scepticism, unbelief, atheism, agnosticism, and the many forms of current infidelity.

In short, directly to Build the Foundations and Strengthen the Defences of the Kingdom of God.
