My dear Principal

I have safely received your notes, but I shall take away with me at the end of this week and, after examining my own, send to Woodward I should have attended to them sooner, but I have been wholly concentrating myself on my address to the Zoological Society which has cost me a great deal of work and thought and which I have been obliged to to now because next term my time will be completely cut to pieces by lecturing so that no continuous work will be possible - I am thankful to say that the body of it was finished (except some little touchings up) yesterday - I can take up the whole question of metamor-phism and the art of metamorphic works. I do not know that there is anything original in it but it may have a certain interest as a summary of my own personal work and experience, and a statement of what seems to ne proud and not proud - You will have thought me ungrateful in not having previously thanked you for your kind present of your book on Egypt and Syria. The fact is that I did not seem to take a short time since. It was sent on per the B.A. in a parcel which I supposed only contained some old letters which I had asked Hewards to forward to me, after my resignation of the Secretaryship and as I did not unpack the parcel till after it had lain for weeks in my study - I has read the book with the greatest interest and pleasure - It brings together a quantity of valuable information and tells the story most appealingly - I feel however a little sceptical about the site proposed for the Tomb of the Saviour; and I am afraid that our examination of the borings for the Nile delta (see Judd Proc: Roy: Soc) are unfavorable to your views about the depth of it -

I will take care that Neward gives you early information - With all good wishes for the Christmas season from my sister and self for all your family I am Sincerely yours
T. G. Bonney
