My dear William

On recently objecting to Shakespeare's "Othello" being put on our Curriculum, owing to the objectionable character of its plot; and of considerable portions of its dialogue, I was answered that it had your entire approval. I see in today's paper, The Mail, that your name is quoted in a reply to Mr Houston, who has been freely using it to accredit some of his very questionable proposals. I forward

you the paper accordingly;

The number of lady
students at McGill
and Toronto is compared in the letter,

What is the number of your Male arts
students; exclusive of Medical students who may be taking

Chemistry or Botany?

This is of some sig-nificance as showing the relative number
to be really much larger than it seems,
in the case of your
lady students,

Pardon a hurried
line. Yours faithfully
D. M. Wilson
