

Wolstenholme

27, Paternoster Row,

London, 19 July 1886

Sir J. W. Dawson ^{E.C.G.} F.R.S.

My dear Sir,

Your valuable contribution to "The Expositor" has met with much favor, and at the suggestion of our Editor, I write to enquire if it will be agreeable to you to give us an article commenting upon Prof. Drider's paper in the present number (I have felt a little uneasy about it, although Mr. Nicoll feels that the Professor's views deserve full consideration).

The subject is now before the thinking public, & I should be very glad to have an article from your side of the subject

You have doubtless seen Mr.
Hayley's & Mr. Lindstone's articles, which have been creating great interest here.

Please do not wait to bring your new book with you if there is any possibility of forwarding it before, as we should like to have it before the public if possible by the beginning of September

Believe me

My dear Sir

Yours respectfully

W. H. Hodder

P.S. We place £4 to your credit for article in January Expositor