

BRITISH MUSEUM (NATURAL HISTORY),

CROMWELL ROAD,

LONDON: S.W

16 July 1887.

Dear Sir William,

I have been intending any time this past few days or more to write to thank you for your kind note & enclosure.

I laid your letter before the Organising Committee of Section C. a week ago.

There is evidently a delicacy felt of interfering with the International Geological Congress; but I shall put a mention of your proposals into my Address which is at present in the Mons parturientis stage, but I fear will only prove another Mus ridiculus when it appears above ground.

I trust to see you in Manchester on the 31st prox^o Meantime with kindest regards,

Believe me to be
Dear Sir William

Yours very sincerely,
Henry Woodward,

Murless
