Sir,

I have the pleasure to enclose a copy of the Prospectus of this Society bringing its aims under your notice, and to ask for it the advantage of your personal co-operation and support.

The list of contents of the Volumes appended to the Prospectus will show the permanent value of work done since the foundation of the Society in 1870. It is the hope and wish of the Council to be able to increase the number of Members and be thus enabled to extend the publications so as to keep pace with the many important discoveries made from time to time. I need only add that if you desire to join the Society and will kindly add your name and address on the accompanying nomination form and return it to me I shall be happy to facilitate your election.

I am, Sir,
