

Lorne

Apr. 18. 1888.

My dear Mr. Villiam. I have long recommended Messrs Bowring & Co. Stanley, and entirely agree with you that his work deserves official recognition.
He looks to me some time ago in very low spirits - poor fellows - O I am very long for him, I quite understand his depression of spirits when left alone after the loss of so excellent a wife.

Many thanks for the journals of the Brit. Land.
The journey must have been a most attractive one. It is curious that you & I see what at the same time to unfolding the borders of such widely distant bits of creation as Galvestone and B. Columbia.

I think you will like LO Stanley's volume.

Hope you will present yourself.

It is very simple & straightforward, and likely to take a real interest in the country - His connections are free from any entanglements, and he has had a great deal of Parliamentary & official experience, & is cool and has a well balanced mind, without his elder's brother's glacial robustness, in which last, even you, could hardly find an atom of sympathy!

Believe me Yrs & C^{rs} of Lorne

long for him, & quite
a wife.

the journals of the Brit. Land.
