

Halifax, Sept. 29 1888.

Dear Sir,--THE ENTERPRISE is the name of a weekly paper recently established at New Glasgow by Dennis Brothers. New Glasgow is the centre of the mining and manufacturing region of Eastern Nova Scotia, and one of the most progressive and flourishing districts in Canada. It is also the railway centre of our Eastern system, and its importance in this respect will be greatly enhanced on the completion of the Oxford and New Glasgow Short Line, and the Cape Breton Trunk Line. While the early opening up of the iron deposits will again send things up with a bound. It is the aim of the proprietors to publish a live paper fully abreast of the present needs and future possibilities of the district. I take the liberty of inviting your kind co-operation to this end, by contributing during the coming year a short article upon any subject you may choose--the article to be published over your name. As I am completing a list of contributors, the favour of an affirmative response at an early day will oblige

Yours obediently,

Wm Fenwick
