

21 Milton Street

26th April 1889.

Sir William Dawson,

Dear Sir;

Today I hand in my resignation to the Governors of the University, and I cannot do so without expressing to you and the Professors in the Faculties of Arts and Applied Science the keen regret that I feel in severing my connection with McGill. As a student, I invariably met with the most friendly and hearty assistance in my work; my appointment upon graduation, as assistant to the Professor of Chemistry, I considered as one of the highest honours that my "Alma Mater" could confer; and, during the three years that I have filled the position, I have been treated with the utmost kindness and consideration.

It is my earnest hope that upon my return from Europe it may be possible for me to again take up my work at M^cQuie, and do my best to further the educational interests of the college to which I owe so much.

I am, Sir,

yours very respectfully

Abiel Norton Evans.
