

Peabody Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology,

HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

Cambridge, Mass., February 2, 1885.

Sir William Dawson,

Montreal, Canada.

Dear Dr. Dawson:-

In reply to your question about the skull presented by Miss Dabney, I quote from our manuscript catalogue:-

"No. 38336. Cranium with under jaw of a Guanche, from an ancient Guanche cemetery on the Isleta a small peninsula on the Island of Gran Canaria. Collected about 1855 by Miss Dabney, and present by Miss Julia P. Dabney of Boston, in 1885."

"This was a known ancient burial place at the time of the Conquest, over 400 years ago."

Skull 122 is from the old Harvard anatomical Museum; and all we know about it is the label on it which simply says "Guanche."

Many thanks for the photographs of Guanche skulls. I have labelled them as presented by you.

Sincerely yours,

J. M. Peabody

Sincerely yours,

labelled them as presented by you.

Many thanks for the photographs of Guanche skulls. I have we know about it is the label on it which simply says "Guanche."

SKULL 122 is from the old Harvard Anatomical Museum; and all over 400 years ago."

*Put into Dabney
Skull
Gran Canaria*

This was a known ancient burial place at the time of the Presented by Miss Julia P. Dabney of Boston, in 1885."

Islets of Gran Canaria. Collected about 1855 by Miss Dabney, and ancient Guanche cemetery on the Islets a small peninsula on the

"No. 38336. Cranium with under jaw of a Guanche, from an

Miss Dabney, I quote from our manuscript catalogue:-

In reply to your question about the skull presented by

Dear Dr. Dawson:-

Montreal, Canada.

Sir, William Dawson,

Cambridge, Mass., February 2, 1898.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

Harvard Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology.