Dear Lu M. Dawson

I have your note

"with additional measurement
from Prof Putnam"
and it is going to the printer at once

I hope Lady Dawson

and you do not feel the cold so much. In England it is the most severe winter I have known since 1859, when I was with my Regiment at Aldershot, and we had to get up to marching out parades at 6 am.

our Colonel - for a short time was a "great soldier"<sup>9</sup> and it was not pleasant with the thermometer far away towards zero

The last three nights
the thermometer has gone very low for England ~~but~~ I have made up for not allowing myself a holiday since 1891
by enjoying the skating it relieves one when one has much brain work

Remind me to write
Thank you, H. H. &
Petree
