THE LEISURE HOUR.

56, PATERNOSTER ROW,

London, E.C. Sept. 4, 1896

My dear Sir,

I write to ask
if you would have time to write three or four papers for the "Sunday at Home"
Mag. The substance of each is known respectly. Prebentice
man. There is now a body of poets

verified, from which most diverse conclusions have been drawn. It would be a great service to our readers if you could give a brief statement of the facts, simply defining the position
problem.

I am, dear Sir,
yours faithfully,

William Stearn
