

London June 22
1870

Acc. 926

Dear Mamma

I enclose a bundle of letters from home, I send also the Witness, which is a mass of Fenian news.

I had a call at the Laboratory yesterday from Mrs Poudfoot who has been in London for about a month, I somehow heard that I was here, He goes to Edinburgh tomorrow, I think intends to stay there about a week & then is going on the Continent.

He took your address with the intention of calling so don't be surprised if you see him some day soon.

Who is Nannie whom Anne mentions several times in her letters?

Your affectionate son
George.