Rae - July 170

My dear Mr Dawson

I fear you will think I have forgotten my promise about the photographs, but I have not yet received them, and as we are leaving home tomorrow for the Orkneys I think it better to send you those we have.

I suppose Dr Dawson is in Cornellia by this time, and I hope you and your son are enjoying the seaside, we are longing for a breath of sea air the weather here is now so very very hot, our thermometer now stands at 92, so you can imagine how we are existing for the fresh air of the north, Dr. Rice has spent the last fortnight at Wimbledon, where the shooting has been better than last year Notwithstanding the heat, Mamma & my sister are at Wash, and desired to be very kindly remembered to you when I was writing.

We hope to return early in November, & I must trust to your son to come & see us, as we shall not know where to find him. Any letters addressed here
will be forwarded to us, should we not be at home.

I hope you will excuse this hurried note as I am very busy this last day,

With kindest regards to yourself & your son, in which Dr Bee writes

Believe me dear
Mr Dawson

Very truly yours
Kate Bee
