My very dear Mrs Dawson

I have only a moment before the mail closes to reply to your kind letter of Sat^r, which I have not mentioned to my dear Husband. Nothing would delight him more than to see dear Dr Dawson; but he is so weak that I dare not say he could give any attention to business at present. And I know how precious Dr Dawson's time is, & would not bring him out therefore on false pretences. I think if Dr Dawson would ask Dr Miller if it would do for Mr Dunkin to see him it would be best.

Believe me ever

Yours most affectionately
Mary Dunkin.
