

Ottawa. Sept. 21.
99.

My dear Mother,

The volumes
arrived this afternoon, I opened the parcel &
looked at one of them,
then closed it again & sent it to you by express. For all the difference I thought it best that you should see the books. You can now

write any inscription you wish in them, but I am sending you enclosed the note you forwarded to me for that purpose.

The parcel might be sent by parcel post or kept by you with till Parker can take it on his return.

I hope to see R. here
 shortly.

Yours
 George
