Dear Lady Dawson:-

It was with deep sorrow that I heard of the sad loss you have suffered in the death of your great and noble husband and I am sure it is expressing the feeling of all McFie's men when I say we sympathize most truly with you in your grief. While all the world deplores his taking away, those who had the pleasure and privilege of studying under and knowing him, feel most keenly about it. It is hard to think of the old college and to feel that he has left it.

If the sympathy of parents and all of the old students will be any comfort to you and yours, pray believe that you have it to the fullest extent.

Very sincerely yours
C. Alcega
