Halifax, Nova Scotia,
December 12th, 1899.

Lady Dawson,
Montreal.

Madam,

I am directed to inform you that at a meeting of the Nova Scotian Institute of Science, held at Halifax on December 11th, the following resolution was adopted:—

"This Institute has learned with the greatest regret of the death of its distinguished Corresponding Member, Sir J. W. Dawson, and desires to place on record its profound sense of the eminence of the services rendered by him to the cause both of science and of education, during a long life, which was happily as fully characterized by successful results, as by unremitting efforts towards the attainment of a noble ideal.

The Institute desires to convey to Lady Dawson and her family an expression of the deep sympathy with which its members have heard of the sad bereavement she and her family have experienced."

I have the honor to be, Madam,

Yours obediently,

Harry Piets,

Recording Secretary
