

Mrs Day
Judge Day

Langley

What a persuasive woman you are, dear Mrs Dawson - Did I not ^{try to} tell you ever so long ago that even the "Founder's Fictive" would not induce me to make my appearance this winter - and now you send me a pressing invitation to stay at your house, and participate in that gay and festive scene. I not content with the Judge's decision you try to draw him in too - Ah! but it is too bad - too bad I mean to think that men change their Minds so readily - This meet-ing of the 24th has spent all my allayments - and some other business which my Dear old husband is engaged in has induced him to with-draw the refusal. In note to Mr Lawson - and he bids me say with my many thanks for your kind invitation that he will strive to be with you Friday and that I also will accompany him - He might be tired of asking Mr Dear Mr Lawson for I am sure he can make trouble some than otherwise, but it is very kind of you, and I assure you I feel very grateful to you & Mr Lawson for your many kind acts

I am glad you had a pleasant visit in Toronto. The different institutions in that city I have always understood were well ahead of Montreal - they are more united - and have not the disadvantage of so brief a population.

I have heard much of the success of Mr. Rainford, and I do hope to hear him - Judge Say has some business which will only begin next Monday so my stay in town may be longer than we expect - if you have made arrangements for any of your friends you will not hesitate to say so, I hope - My best wishes are kindest regards & many thanks for your pretty Christmas card -

The often aspects of your work the pleasant visits made to you - again thanking you for your many kindnesses which are treasured

Dear Mr. Sturges

Yours affectionately
Maria A. D. D.
