

P.S. Mamma is as curious as Queen Manners and was up as every will have no end of new visions to teach you when she returns. Today she was kneeling by the side of an ~~desk~~ on a door-step learning some new stitches which he

Feb 8, 1887

My dear Anna, was working on the and taking the needle out of his hand to practise of herself, so you see she has some of the old spirit left. I thank you very much for your nice letter received on our return here, and which brings vividly before me all the throngs of home & college. Mamma will no doubt tell you how we enjoyed our Nile voyage; and you will see in the "Lecture Hour", beginning I believe with the March Number, some notes as to what I

It is more necessary to give the children something, such as books, than as well as give the children in for the first numbers, number 3.

These sailing from Port Said for Saffa,

I have attempted for 14 days travelling in Southern Palestine, & here the problems

& I had seen and please I intend about Jerusalem, we then said again ~~from~~ Saffa for Beirut, where we shall see the Lebanon, and all Lebanon, and when we have my kind invitation from the American newspaper, from Beirut in return to England, via Smyrna, Thess, Venice, Geneva, from and Grubbs, hoping to be in Seneca again early in April. I shall as usual ask Mr. Com. & direct our letters to places chief & back us. In Jan we have been very fortunate in this, having got our letters very rapidly.

After leaving Cairo however, I scarcely expect to receive letters till we get to Dayton, In we shall have those of two weeks at once, unless the intermediate one happens. The letters in it however, the in particular in this letter is the heart of all concerned, the where we are in the present state, the
where we are in the present state, the